

Attendees: Misty Amarena, Michelle Blankas, Paige Collins, Cynthia Mika, Joe Astorino, Cassidy Krahn, Marilyn Von Seggern

StoryCorps

- Hope for breaking up into subgroups for further discussion at the next meeting
- Combine ripple mapping methodology alongside storycorp
- Collective impact: Several agencies and how they impact one another and how they impact together (example: health and food impact):
- Goals and target audience are still to be determined in July

PCFC Local Foods, Local Flavors Blog

- Community sourcing of information and recipes, use of hyperlinks to build visibility and support for local stores and food methods and preparation
- Colette will be main contact, will provide calendar for signing up
- Plans to be solidified before an invitation to ask for submissions
- Ashley's zucchini hummus

Palouse- Clearwater Story Map

- Send photos of food bank, commercial kitchens, community gardens, restaurant, pantries to Colette
- Paige has several pictures of the food banks
- Also if updates need to be included (whether it still exists, building is different etc., let Colette know)

Food Summit

- Results based on the value cards at the 2018 Food Summit
 - o Major themes include fun and inspiration, inclusions, advocacy, empowerment, environment, agrarian economic development, compassion, community, education, health
 - o Theories of change – three connected parts: social, environment, economic
 - Provided in handout
- Sharing assessment results at the Food Summit
 - o One Sky, One Earth – food impact assessments
 - o Regional Needs Assessment for Whitman County – Jeff Guyett
 - o Gritman Medical Assessment

- LC Assessment
- Other assessments
- PTP – Joe Astorino
 - What is happening already, what is being done already
 - What are the dreams
 - Possibility of ignite talk
- Framework Brainstorm
 - Open space discussion as process
 - Call for ideas, call for facilitators instead of sourcing internally
 - Brings diversity and expertise in their field
 - Inviting government entities, university personnel, students (student food coalition, hunger task force)
 - Maybe an ignite talk for those student/campus groups around food
 - Mornings – sharing results
 - Afternoon – design framework to invite people to plan and take action, creating or picking projects to choose from and to do
 - Planning committee: Paige, Joe, Cynthia, Michelle
 - Theme: Storytelling – data included, Food Stories that Inspire, Stories in the morning, Chapters in the afternoon, happy endings, sequels
 - Chapter 1: From data to stories
 - Spending the morning sharing information/data, results from the assessments
 - Five presentations – contact speakers
 - Chapter 2: Collecting Impact- Stories to Inspire Action
 - Spending the afternoon discussing projects
 - Call for ideas
 - Call for facilitators
 - Story of volunteers morning session / rethinking volunteer coordination afternoon session / what role a volunteer has based on projects they're interested in / collective volunteer appreciation and volunteer award
 - Incentivizing students – swipe in, scholarships, extra credits from professors
 - Sponsor a volunteer – sponsor nominees
 - Hire a professional storyteller?
 - Have story map ready for the food summit in order to invite audience to share their food stories and dreams – crowdsourcing their food stories/food dreams onto the maps
 - Optional Kitchen Tours at the Latah Fairgrounds
 - Consider Whitman County Fairgrounds for next year
 - Having a packing party at the end with homestead ministries
 - raffles
 - 400 people can fit, 35 in one room, 100 in another

Announcements and Updates

- Seniors Picnic at Rosalia City Park, July 10th, free (donations accepted), noon
- Palouse Empire Fair – September 6 to 9 with senior breakfasts, more to come
- Campus Compact – Oct 11- 12, 2018 – Food Security Forum
- Lentil Festival – CCE – Food recovery
 - o Ariel will replace Trya for CCE
- Rural Roots and BYH Joint fundraiser –Sat July 28 from 3 to 10, Latah County Fairgrounds
 - o Local brew fest, local musicians, free entry, $15 for beer garden
- Palouse Tables Project – Scavenger Hunt (1:30) and Community Meeting 2:30) in Colfax – June 30

